The Will of The Late Prince Imperial.

PARIS, July 1st.—The Gazette publishes a codicil to the will of the late Prince Imperial, which says: The duty which our house owes to our country will not lapse by my death. The arduous and glorious task of continuing the work of the first Napoleon will depend, in the event of my death, upon the oldest son of Prince Jerome Napoleon, who by the laws of succession of our house is my heir. I trust that my beloved mother, by seconding him in the discharge of the responsibilities and duties which, in the event of my death, will devolve upon him, will give to me, when I am no longer upon this earth, this last and sublime proof of her affection for me and her love for France.
